Scale Scribblings Staff

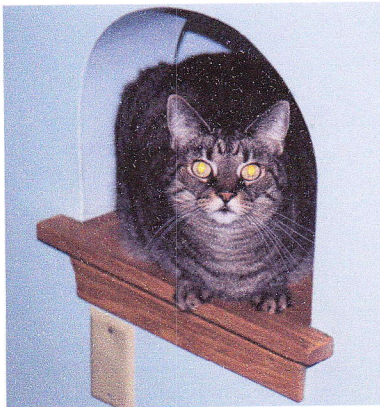

General Manager

BB (AKA Butterbean). Shown perched on the chair behind my computer, from which he oversees all operations. Editorial content must meet with his approval to make it into the newsletter. Newsletter work can also only proceed when food and petting requirements have been met.

Head of Security

Frank. Do not let his repose fool you, he is ready to spring into action at the slightest provocation. Just ask Larry MacMillan or Larry Davis if you don't believe me. By the way, this is his happy face.

Slacker

Mamie. No job function that can be detected. Every operation has at least one employee whose position is a mystery. She at least generally stays out the way the rest of the staff.
